

The industry experts
in electronic voting

The Association has contracted with an electronic voting company called HOA VoteNow. This company has been in business for almost 20 years and works predominately with homeowner associations to obtain quorum and conduct their voting.

Historically, Jamestown Colony HOA has had a challenge obtaining quorum at their annual meetings and to conduct important owner votes. This tool will help the Association reach their members easier.

Every VOTE Counts and EVERYONE needs to participate!

This is what the email looks like.

All property owners that have an email on file with the Association will receive an email notification from jamestowncolony@ivotehoa.com. This email includes your unique Registration Code that is needed to vote.

The email you receive will be the voting announcement and the body of the email will look like the example shown on the left. Use the blue hyperlink 'CLICK HERE' in the email you received to officially enter the voting site.
